Experience Las Pampas

Las Pampas Lodge (LPL), in the Chubut Province of Central Patagonia, offers an extraordinary experience into a land that's virtually untouched by the modern world.

Approximately two and half hours south of Esquel Airport, well beyond where the pavement ends, you'll find Las Pampas Lodge. This is where the real experience begins.

A short drive from the lodge is a small border town that's almost as quiet as the wilderness that surrounds it, and the calming yet wild and rustic terrain is still home to a simple way of living. Gauchos herding their sheep are likely the only thing one may stumble upon along the way to fish remote lakes, rivers, and streams.

Our accommodations

Our European-style log and stone lodge looks out at the Andes Mountains and is entirely surrounded by nature, reminding our guests that they are truly in the heart of Patagonia.

Throughout the property, it is nearly impossible to not be taken by a view of the Andes. At the lodge, guests find spacious double occupancy rooms with private baths. They also can enjoy the large common room that features a dining area, bar, and lounge with a fireplace that brings everyone together over cocktails. And upstairs, our guests will find a living room, a TV, and a fully-equipped fly tying table, as well as a private office with a computer and phone.

However, one of the first things our guests notice isn't the out-of-place luxuries we offer but rather the atmosphere. Our entire team works together to ensure a relaxed environment where everyone feels welcomed.

Gourmet farm-to-table cuisine

We are passionate about the food we serve. Our head chef, a Le Cordon Bleu graduate, only uses local and organic ingredients. Fresh eggs are served daily, and the cuts of chicken, lamb, and beef we prepare come from the livestock on the property.

Breakfast is served at the lodge, and a gourmet lunch with wine is served on the water by our guides. As is typical in Argentina, dinner is served in the late evening, and with this meal, our head chef delights our guests with meat and vegetable entrees paired with fine wines.

Our guides

Las Pampas guides know these waters inside and out. Our guides are Argentines who have spent countless days fishing and guiding the area's waters. With most of our guides returning year after year, they have unmatched experience that serves anglers every day of the season.

LPL guides also provide all terminal tackle — leaders, tippets, and flies — to ensure they are equipped to take on the diversity of experiences and conditions anglers face on these waters.

But most importantly, every pair of anglers are assigned to a guide and an assistant guide for a 1:1 ratio.

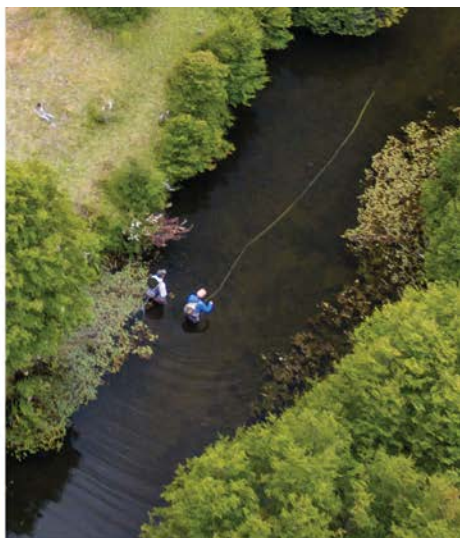

The fishing

Our location is surrounded by an abundance of creeks, rivers, and lakes. Some of the main rivers we fish include the Rio Pampas, Rio Nilson, Rio Corcovado, and Rio Pico, which consists of more than 25 miles of world-class water. Additionally, we fish five lakes — all are home to large and often aggressive trout that can be eager to come to the surface for dries or attack a streamer. We also have access to more than 20 private locations.

From spring creeks to freestone rivers to mountain-lined lakes, the variety of options we have provide anglers the chance to fish for brown, rainbow, and brook trout. And with so much great water, our guests are guaranteed rested and productive fisheries and a unique experience each day – all within a close distance from the lodge.

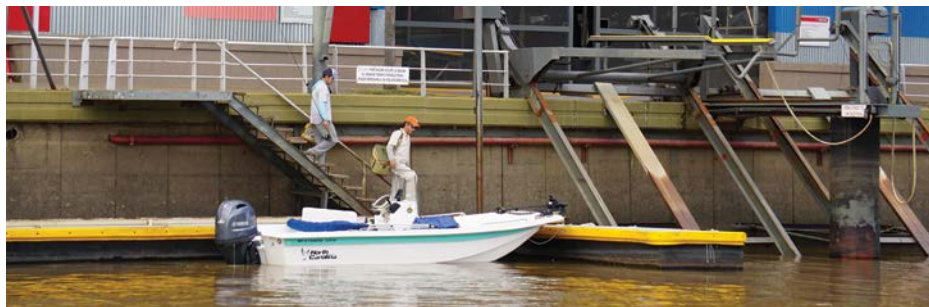

URBAN DORADO ANGLERS

Buenos Aires rests along the waters of the Río de la Plata, which is one of the widest rivers in the world, and the Paraná Delta, which feeds the Río de la Plata. This system is a wondrous maze of water that is home to some exceptional fly fishing for dorado, wolfish, and other species.

For those who are in Buenos Aires for just one day on the way to Patagonia, an easy 30-minute transfer puts anglers in the hands of Urban Dorado Anglers (UDA) guides who are ready to hit the water in fully-equipped skiffs. And within almost no time, anglers are casting streamers to dorado.

With Urban Dorado Anglers, we provide high-end fly fishing gear, a gourmet lunch, and drinks to make things even more convenient and eliminate the need to pack for more than Patagonia.

Fishing Program

We provide a world-class fishing experience, and we make things easy for out-of-town guests. Depending on the arrangements needed, we will either pick guests up in the city or have a driver pick them up at the airport to bring them to the marina or a private estancia.

Depending on conditions, we fish nearby island chains that are scattered throughout the Paraná Delta and Rio de la Plata. We also guide at nearby estancias, with exclusive UDA private access to the best sections of the lower Paraná River and its tributaries. The waters of the region are incredibly unique, giving anglers a wide range of settings and habitats to fish. From casting streamers off the bow of a skiff to wet wading the rivers, there are many ways to fish these waters.

At the end of the day, we have transfers arranged to return anglers to their hotel or the airport — all with a great day of fishing in the books.

Season: Year-round

Transfers

To help ensure things run smoothly and efficiently, UDA has partnered with LOL Argentina, a tourism services company, to provide transfers to and from our fishing destinations. But LOL Argentina provides more than just a shuttle service – they help travelers navigate the airport (how to avoid long lines or deal with check-in delays), and they can make dinner reservations and plan evening activities in the city after a day on the water.

Fly Fishing Equipment: UDA programs provide anglers with all necessary high-quality fishing equipment for the day.

Rods and Reels: High-end 8wt and 9wt fly fishing rods and corresponding reels

Lines and Leaders: RIO warmwater floating fly lines. Leaders – usually as long as the rod, finished with a foot of wire

Flies: Argentine-tied selection of fly patterns for all the species we target

LAS PAMPAS Experience

7 nights / 6 fishing days

We are serious about providing an authentic Patagonia angling experience, and our signature program has become a “must-do” for traveled anglers worldwide. The outstanding fishing you will find in these waters will ensure your love affair with this remote and enchanting region of Patagonia.

Many of our guests return year after year to relive the Las Pampas Experience, and we work hard to please them season after season with the best wild fishing Patagonia has to offer and our exceptional Argentine hospitality.

LAS PAMPAS Brook Trout Expedition

(Add On)

10 nights / 9 fishing days

Have you ever dreamed of catching a world record trophy fish? This is your opportunity!

During special periods of the fishing season, anglers have a unique chance to target some of the world's largest brook trout. For the majority of the season, these monster brookies inhabit several lakes where they are hard to catch, but in the summer and fall they migrate up a number of rivers where they become easier to target. These systems are hard to reach. To be able to discover and enjoy these waters, we find it necessary to camp in those remote areas to avoid long daily transfers.

Trips are a combination of Las Pampas Lodge and camping nights. Guests will enjoy a culinary experience like never before thanks to the flavor that wood smoke gives our vegetables and cuts of meat, which are served under a million stars.

For anglers serious about big brook trout, we recommend booking this special extension trip onto a standard lodge stay.

LAS PAMPAS Esquel Waters

10 nights / 9 fishing days

When flying all the way down to Central Patagonia, why not extend your stay and fish different waters of our region? A great add-on to the Las Pampas Lodge program involves fishing the rivers of Esquel, Trevelin, and Los Alerces National Park.

Our guides know the region very well and have access to prime private waters. We're also licensed to fish in Los Alerces National Park. We recommend this add-on for couples and anglers who prefer to fish mainly out of a raft or motorboat.

LAS PAMPAS / Chile
(Add On)

PatagoniaOne

10 nights / 9 fishing days

We teamed up with one of the best outfitters in Chile, The Patagonian Basecamp, and created a combined “borderless” fishing program to Argentina and Chile called PatagoniaOne.

Anglers will have the chance to fish a complete water system, starting from a tiny spring creek on the Argentine side of the Andes all the way down to the Pacific Ocean in Chile. With PatagoniaOne, anglers can enjoy spotting feeding trout in small streams, floating huge rapids, fishing for lake trophies, intimate and high-end lodging, five-star camping, the best wines of both countries, valleys, glaciers, canyons, and countless wild fish.

This borderless program will maximize the opportunities for our guests to experience Patagonia on the deepest level possible.

Included in every LPL program:

- transfers in/out of Esquel Airport (EQS) to Las Pampas Lodge
- lodging
- all food and beverages
- English-speaking, fully-equipped guides and assistant guides
- daily transfers to fishing areas
- all terminal tackle (leaders, tipper, and flies)
- private water fees
- fishing license

Not included: airfares, Buenos Aires hotel and transfers, and gratuities.

Why Las Pampas Lodge?

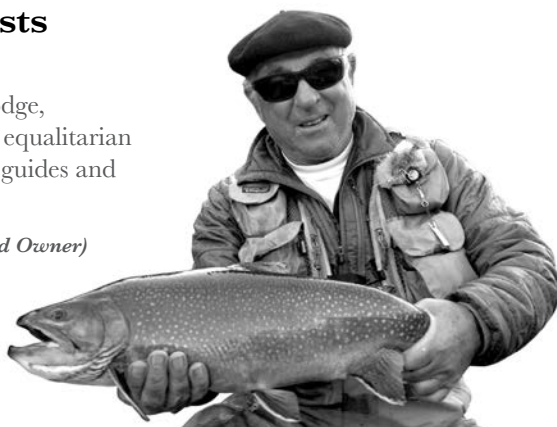

- We are Argentines who are part of the community.
- We personally arrange and host every trip to get to know our guests as friends, and we make sure the experience is customized to their tastes.
- We work hand-in-hand with the most professional travel agents in the industry and help our guests plan their trip for no extra cost.
- LPL trips have no hidden costs: Our programs are all inclusive with impeccable service.
- Our casual, friendly, and fun vibe makes us proud: Staff and guides welcome each guest with open arms and help them feel at home in a beautiful and remote location.
- We provide highly diverse fly fishing programs with multi-species opportunities — we have something for everyone.
- 1:1 fishing ratio — each pair of anglers head to the river with a guide and an assistant guide so each angler has someone to point out where fish are and what they are eating, provide tippet and flies, help wade a river, and take a great photo to bring home.
- We know the system well because we spend 180 days of the season every year on Rio Pico's waters.
- We have access to over 20 different private waters, making sure our guests spend their days in rested and productive fisheries.
- LPL fishing equipment provided to our clients is top-of-the-line:
 - NRS rafts
 - Patagonia waders and boots
 - Winston rods
 - RIO lines
 - TroutHunter tippet
 - Montana Fly Company flies
 - Zen tenkara rods

Reviews from our guests

“The best aspect of Las Pampas Lodge, other than the superb fishing, is the equalitarian atmosphere at the lodge, where the guides and clients are all part of the family.”

Yvon Chouinard (Patagonia Founder and Owner)

“A most sincere thanks from our entire fishing group for an amazing (and I do mean amazing) week at your lodge.

Everyone agreed the trip could not have been better: fishing (superb and unparalleled); lodge (perfect in all respects in a remarkable setting); guides and staff (genuine, friendly, and wonderful people who all work well together as a team); and yes the weather was great too (thanks for seeing to that).

You have fostered and developed a unique atmosphere that distinguishes your lodge: everyone seems to enjoy and take pride in their roles and we felt treated with genuine warmth. Perhaps partly as a consequence not once (not once!) did any of us get even the slightest hint that our requests were not appreciated or were a nuisance. Oggy, thanks for making such an effort to make sure all fishermen, even with rotating pairings, got to fish the key spots and new water every day—that effort did not go unnoticed.

Please pass along my personal thanks to: each of the guides (Andres, Martin, Nico and Pancho); to each of the assistant guides (Paul, Marcella, Kirk and Jack); to Tute for an amazing job with the wine and gracious hosting, and to the entire staff in the kitchen for the wonderful meals.

Most great organizations have great leaders and you two set the tone that defines your lodge. Thanks for allowing us to enjoy your tremendous lodge and all it has to offer for a week.”

Dan Berry

“I enjoyed everything about this lodge. It was a perfect week. I couldn’t even think of anything that could be changed or should be.”

Penny Ritterbusch

“This trip represented virtually a perfect fishing experience for me.

It was far better than I could have hoped for. I am extraordinarily consumer service orientated ... I don’t believe that I have ever felt so pampered at any other place or time in my life, even in 5-star hotels. The staff was truly exceptional.”

Michael Payne

“Already high expectations were surpassed.”
